Every woman and girl—no matter where she lives in the world—has the right to live with dignity and have a voice in decisions that affect her life. When it comes to sexual and reproductive health, too many women and girls are denied their rights, deprived of a voice, and silenced by stigma and fear. The David and Lucile Packard Foundation supports visionary providers, advocates, and researchers working to ensure everyone’s right to quality care. Change of this kind requires creative thinking and risk-taking. We’re looking for champions with innovative ideas to improve quality in sexual and reproductive health and empower women and girls in new ways.

2016 Quality Innovation Challenge
Two ways for International Conference on Family Planning attendees to participate:

Lunch Event
Up to 5 grants of $100,000 each
Tuesday, January 26, 1:20 p.m.
Singaraja Hall 2

Online Submission
Up to 4 grants of $25,000 each
Submissions accepted
January 26-29

Submission guidelines to be announced on January 26 at the lunch event and online at www.packard.org/quality.
While the lunch event is limited to ICFP attendees, online submission is open to attendees as well as those who registered for the 2015 conference but are unable to attend in 2016.

Learn more about the challenge and past projects at www.packard.org/quality